Senate Passes Jobless Pay Measure

Eisenhower Due To Sign Legislation

Provides Federal
Advances To States
For More Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed and sent to the White House Wednesday a bill authorizing federal advances to the states to finance a temporary extension of unemployment benefits.

The vote was 80-0 on passage, after various counter proposals were turned down.

The legislation, somewhat modified by the House from the form requested by President Eisenhower, nevertheless had administration backing as a way of easing the recession's impact.

It permits the federal government to advance funds to the states to extend by as much as one-half the number of weeks in which workers eligible for unemployment insurance may draw benefits.

Kennedy's Move Defeated

The amount and duration of payments vary from state to state, but in more than half the states this would amount to 13 additional weeks.

The Senate rejected all efforts to change the House bill, including a proposal by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) to require all states to provide benefits for an additional 16 weeks. Kennedy's move lost 57-27.

The bill sent to the White House leaves it up to the states whether or not to participate. Eisenhower originally proposed that the states be required to take part, but the House and the Senate balked at that.

2,600,000 To Exhaust Benefits

Eisenhower's original proposal was rejected by a Senate roll call vote of 54-26. It was offered by Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.).

Secretary of Labor Mitchell has estimated that 2,600,000 workers will exhaust their benefit rights during 1958. He estimated the cost of the emergency program at more than $600 million dollars if all states participate. Critics of the bill say many states will be unable to do so unless their legislatures act in special session.

Under the legislation, the federal treasury would recoup the program's cost by a higher payroll tax on employers beginning in 1963 unless it was otherwise repaid by the states.

Lewis, Bride Return Home

MEMPHIS (AP)—Rock 'n' roll singer Jerry Lee Lewis, his English tour torpedoed by an uproar of publicity over his intricate marital career, came home Wednesday to "straighten things out."

Lewis, a lank 22-year-old blond with sideburns, placidly denied that he and his 13-year-old cousin—his third wife—were driven from London by a scourge of newspaper attacks on the marriage.

"But I gotta get all this straightened out," he said. "I don't know what I'll have to do, that's for the lawyers. But we couldn't go on the way it was."

The way it was included newspaper condemnation as a "cradle snatcher" plus demands that Lewis and party be deported. A theater chain, worried by the publicity bombs, canceled the tour.

The singer seemed bewildered that the world should take such interest in the fact that he married his cousin five months before he was divorced from his second wife, and had married his second before divorcing his first.

Ike Criticizes Three Features Of Defense Reorganization Bill

Conflict With His
Recommendations,
Eisenhower Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday certain provisions of the defense reorganization bill approved by the House Armed Services Committee would lead to "legalized insubordination" in the armed forces.

In a statement after a conference with Secretary of Defense McElroy, the President singled out three features of the bill for criticism. He said they directly conflict with the reorganization program he recommended, and added:

"These provisions continue to emphasize disunity and separation within the Defense Department. They continue to imply congressional approval of wasteful duplications, administrative delays and interservice rivalries."

"Legalized Bottleneck"

Eisenhower said the provisions would add up, in specific cases, to 1. a legalized bottleneck, 2. a case of "everyone's out of step but me," and 3. legalized insubordination.

In his statement, Eisenhower said: "The committee has acted commendably on most of the needed changes, but in dealing with our defense establishment pretty good is not good enough and going part way is not going far enough."

"America, having started on this reorganization, wants the job done right."

"I earnestly hope, as does Secretary McElroy, that the changes needed for an effective reorganization will be made by the House of Representatives when this bill comes up for debate."

President's Objections

When the committee approved a reorganization bill recently, Eisenhower objected to a provision continuing to give Congress final decision, without possibility of a presidential veto, in controversial changes in functions of any service.

Eisenhower also found fault with language specifying that the secretary of defense's authority over the services shall be exercised through the secretaries of the services.

In his analysis, the President also objected to a provision saying that no feature of the reorganization program shall be construed to prevent a service secretary or a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff from presenting to Congress, on their own initiative after first informing the secretary of defense, any recommendations relating to the Defense Department they might deem proper.

Fair Skies Forecast For Holiday Weekend

WASHINGTON, May 28 (UPI)—The Weather Bureau today forecast fair skies and seasonally normal or slightly warmer weather for much of the nation over the Memorial Day weekend.

The bureau predicted an area of showers through the Lower Great Lakes region which it said, may reach from Illinois to Western New York and Pennsylvania by night.

The bureau said it will be cool in the Great Lakes region and slightly cooler than normal in the Middle Atlantic states.

Moscow Puts Economic Squeeze On Yugoslavia

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The breach between Communist Montenegro and other industrial projects. Only a small part was put off for five years their promise of credits to help Yugoslavia bolster its industrial economy.

Thus the latest feud that broke with Yugoslavia's refusal to take orders from the Kremlin ballooned into an economic crisis that could disrupt this country's efforts to improve its foreign trade and create better living standards.

The Soviet decision was announced by the official news agency Tanjug. But it came as no surprise because Soviet-Yugoslav relations have been deteriorating for the past several weeks.

In two agreements, the Soviets promised to give the Yugoslavs economic credits amounting to cotton and other varieties of goods 250 million dollars. This was to be and equipment.

House Adopts Bill To Make Alaska State

Reversal Of Form,
208 To 166, Sends
Measure To Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Wednesday passed 208-166 a bill to admit Alaska to statehood.

In a dramatic reversal of form, the House twice rejected efforts to send the bill back to the House Insular Affairs Committee. It also defeated on a voice vote the decision by which it voted tentatively Tuesday to kill the bill.

The action sent the bill to the Senate where it faces a new and possibly stronger challenger. An Alaska bill, as well as one to admit Hawaii, has been on the Senate calendar since last June.

The statehood bill is opposed by most Southern senators who cite various reasons. But it is generally recognized that the Southerners mainly fear that the addition of new Senate seats would upset their balance of power in the Senate.

However, it was considered likely the bill will come up in the Senate by mid-June.

The House last passed an Alaska bill in 1950, by a vote of 186-146. A separate Alaska bill has never passed the Senate although a combined Alaska-Hawaii statehood measure cleared that body in 1954 only to die.

President Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday he believes Congress should carry out the platform pledges of both the Democrats and Republicans by voting statehood for both Alaska and Hawaii.

Voting for the bill today were 117 Democrats and 91 Republicans. Against were 81 Democrats and 85 Republicans, including Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts.

Algerian Junta Tightens Grip

ALGIERS (AP)—Gaullist regime leaders strengthened their civil controls on Algeria Wednesday and voiced confidence in a De Gaulle victory in Paris.

The directing heads of the Central Committee of Public Safety for Algeria and the Sahara named a special committee to mesh the activity of Algeria's labor unions and discussed a program to integrate French colonialists and the Algerian population.

"There is nothing else for us to do now," a committee spokesman said. "Our position is clear. We have chosen Gen. De Gaulle and his victory is only a question of time."

The leaders apparently are confident that their own position will be legalized by De Gaulle's rise to power.

The committee met in private. Presiding was Cherif Sid Cara, Algerian physician who heads the committee together with paratroop Brig. Gen. Jacques Massu.

The junta members once again affirmed their vigilance and fight until final victory." But their relaxed, beaming faces indicated a feeling victory was in the bag.

The committee asked the farmers to do all they can to boost the wages of farmhands—now averaging less than $2 a day—and promised decrees regulating farm wages.

Tunis Charges New French Violations

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—The government charged Wednesday French troops and helicopters had violated Tunisian territory three times since Tuesday.

The charge came as Tunisia prepared to file a formal complaint in the U.N. Security Council against the presence of French troops in this former French protectorate.

A statement from the Information Ministry said a French patrol crossed the border from Algeria Tuesday morning near Ain-Drahem, but later withdrew.

The Ministry said French helicopters flew twice into Tunisia with ammunition, supplies and four officers. The flights were made, it added, to Drassen, Oued Labid and Kelibia, all small French outposts in southern Tunisia.

This is the second of recent weeks. The latest feud that broke with Yugoslavia's refusal to take orders from the Kremlin ballooned into an economic crisis that could disrupt this country's efforts to improve its foreign trade and create better living standards.

Unknowns Lie In State

War Heroes
Return Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — The honored Unknowns of World War II and Korea have returned at last to the sun-warmed soil of their homeland.

Side by side, now, they lie in state beneath the towering Capitol dome, accepting the reverent accolade of their countrymen.

With formal military rites, flag-shrouded caskets of the nameless warriors were carried ashore from the destroyer Blandy Wednesday. They have come back home, for the first time since they sacrificed lives and names for the freedom of fellow men.

Twin black hearse with mao-ron velvet curtains took them to the Capitol plaza. Again with military honors, the unknown heroes were borne up the Capitol steps and gently lowered into catafalques in the center of the vast rotunda.

There they will repose, as have presidents and heroes before them, until they set out Friday for Memorial Day burial services in Arlington National Cemetery beside the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier of World War I.

Vice President Nixon, Speaker Rayburn, other high dignitaries of government and ambassadors of many lands paid them ceremonial tribute with their presence and with laurel wreath garlands.

And all through the day, hushed, humbled people filed silently by the biers, though in surprisingly small numbers.

Some sobbed without shame. For them, perhaps, these nameless ones might have been sons, brothers or husbands who marched away to war and unmarked graves.

Probably there was none among them who could not share in their hearts the sentiment of the first

Presbyterians Reunited Under Baptism Of Rain

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nature provided a baptism of rain Wednesday at the founding of a new Presbyterian Church.

Then, as its first act of worship, the United Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A. celebrated the Lord's Supper.

The new denomination was formed by the merger of two long-separated branches of Presbyterianism.

A heavy downpour soaked the 1,200 robed church representatives as they converged in twin processions at a street intersection.

They stood there a few minutes in the rain, their leaders shaking hands and pledging their new alliance of faith.

He was identified as Dan Els Martin Jr. of Charleston by Chief of Police Dallas Bias.

Bias said Martin had a criminal record stretching back 11 years and currently faces a third charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The woman who reported the robbery and rape Monday told the police that a Negro man with a woman's stocking pulled over his head entered the substation of a dry cleaning company while she was working alone there. She said he pulled out a .22 caliber automatic pistol and took about $60 from the cash register.

After the robbery, the woman continued, she was forced to go into a rear room, where the man raped her, striking a blow when she resisted.

Martin has denied he was the man, but a lie detector test disproved his denial, Bias said.

Now united, they constitute a denomination of three million members and nearly 10,000 congregations across the nation. Among American Protestants, only Baptist and Methodist bodies are larger.

Of the rain-drenched street formalities, the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Balke, of Philadelphia, administrator of the U.S.A. church commented smilingly: "It emphasizes that we don't immerse, but sprinkle—and hard."

After the meeting in the rain, the bareheaded, dripping marchers moved side-by-side into Pittsburgh's big Syria Mosque auditorium often used for symphony concerts and other entertainment.

"Let us worship God," intoned the Rev. Dr. Harold R. Martin, of Bloomington, Ill., moderator of the U.S.A. church, in the traditional opening of a Presbyterian service.

An overflow crowd of about 4,000 packed the auditorium.

No Contract, No Union Shop, GM Tells UAW

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. Wednesday set its own terms, including abandonment of the union shop and checkoff of union dues, if there is no contract settlement with the United Auto Workers when the present contract expires Thursday midnight.

GM President Harlow Curtice informed GM's 350,000 hourly rate employees the company will retain old wage schedules, benefit plans and working conditions the same as under the 1955 agreement.

The company stipulated the same conditions for members of the International Union of Electrical Workers, whose contract also ends Thursday midnight. The union, however, has instructed its members to continue working if no agreement is reached with the auto companies. The UAW also has given local officials detailed instructions on how to operate in the event the companies refused to extend the present three-year contract on a day-to-day basis.

Curtice said, "Union members will no longer have the obligation to pay dues to the union as a condition of continued employment in General Motors. The union shop provision having expired with termination of the national agreement, the union will be unable to request and cause the discharge of an employee for nonpayment of union dues.

"New employees will not be required to join the union and pay initiation fees and dues as a condition of employment."

GM said it will make no deductions for union dues from wages of employees.

Earlier today General Motors and Ford flatly rejected the UAW's proposal to bring federal mediators into the negotiations. Chrysler is expected to do likewise.

Both sides agreed there is faint hope of agreement on the GM pact before Thursday's deadline, or on the Ford and Chrysler contracts before their midnight Sunday expiration date.

Ford and Chrysler have not detailed plans for operating without new pacts, but both have indicated they will continue to function and on their own terms.

Robbery-Rape Suspect Held

Committee Ups Recommended Defense Outlay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee Wednesday recommended more money than the Defense Department asked for missiles, nuclear submarines and missile-armed B52 bombers. It vetoed plans to reduce the strength of the National Guard, the Army reserves and the Marine Corps.

In tune with this age of warfare, hitched to the rapid pace of scientific progress, the committee allotted $2,732,985,000 for research and development during the next year. This included $10 million dollars for space research.

For the past has been dredged and quoted, for and against, and it's interesting how frequently a statesman has peered into the future and misread it completely.

Let's drift back to 1816 when a House committee was wondering whether Mississippi should be allowed into the Union.

"Your committee begs leave barely to remark," said these gentlemen of the 14th Congress, "that they cannot believe a state of such unprecedented magnitude as the one contemplated by the Memorialists can be desirable to any section of the United States."

"From the settlement on the Tennessee to that on the Mississippi, the distance is about 400 miles, all of which is wilderness. Between the Tennessee and the Mississippi settlements, there is not, and probably never will be, any commercial intercourse whatever."

Well, Mississippi became a state the next year. And reports from there indicate that, despite congressional worry, commercial intercourse has been established.

Then, in 1819, while Alabama knocked on the Union door, Josiah Quincy of Massachusetts opposed not only this motion but others that were to follow.

"You have no authority," he told the House, "to throw the rights and property of the people into the 'hotch-potch' with the wild men on the Missouri, nor with the mixed though more responsible race of Anglo-Hispano-Gallo-Americans who bask on the sands in the mouth of the Mississippi."

Whether Josiah ever recovered or not is not known. But other scares were ahead. California, for one.

"I have always thought," said Sen. Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois, "that the boundaries of California were too large."

"With all the extent of California," said Sen. Thomas Ewing of Ohio, "it will never sustain one-half the population of Ohio, not one-half."

By 1940, California had caught up with Ohio; by 1950, it was ahead.

Statesman, When He's Wrong, Wrong Forever

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the worst things about being a statesman is that when he's wrong, he's wrong forever — and it's right. The optimists were wrong, too.

Abraham Lincoln, for example, confidently looked forward to a nation of "500 millions of happy and prosperous people." It still could happen, but it seems so far away that it's a meaningless prophecy.

Three weeks later, he pleaded guilty to a federal indictment charging him with embezzlement. It stipulated that he took $31,590 from the bank on the date of his disappearance. Three other counts listed earlier, smaller shortages, Judge Moore said:

White Bids For Speaker Job In Maryland House

SALISBURY (AP) — E. Homer White led the legislative ticket. White Jr. became the first legislator in the 1954 general election and later Wednesday to publicly put in place the recent primary with a bid for the job of speaker of more than 3,800 votes. He has the House of Delegates.

White, seeking his fourth term Agricultural and Natural Resources in the House in the November general election and of the Democratic election, wants the position of speaker.

Luber apparently lost renomination in the May 20 primary. He has been serving as House speaker for the past eight years, and his selection had been due principally to backing of the 25 Democratic delegates from the nine Eastern Shore counties.

White's bid for the speaker's position is based on the fact he is the shore's senior delegate. His home county, Wicomico, also is the largest on the shore from a voting standpoint. It has 11,873 registered Democrats.

C&P To Spend Over $2 Million On Expansion

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. will spend $2,253,000 in its latest expansion program.

Vice President W. Griffin Morrel said the largest outlay will go for $1,764,000 to rebuild cable, poles and outside wire lines damaged by the snow and sleet storm of March 19-20.

The company had previously allotted one million dollars for storm repairs.

Expenditures approved by C&P board of directors include a $49,000 building addition and dial system expansion at Walkersville, Frederick County.

Another $145,000 will go for a dial expansion project at Annapolis. This is part of a $528,000 program.

And $145,000 will go for a building addition at Annapolis. This is part of a $528,000 dial expansion project in Southern Maryland. Some $15,000 was authorized for central office equipment at Mechanicsville.

Washington suburbs will share in the latest program. The C&P announced $101,000 is for aerial and underground cable to reach new housing developments in northwest Hyattsville. Cable lines will cost $92,000 at Gaithersburg, and $31,000 is to be spent on cable and poles for new houses in the Peppermill Village section of Suitland.

The auction establishment was owned by Mrs. Rosy Sapperstein. The adjoining cinder-block farm implement store was owned by Aubrey Stem.

Politics Blamed For Loss Of Job

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — A man fired from his job as a Baltimore County liquor inspector after he ran for office with a rebel Democratic faction said Wednesday he was a victim of political retaliation.

Howard J. Struben was dismissed a week ago, the day following the primary. As a candidate for the County Council on the Free Democratic ticket, he was beaten by a margin of nearly 5-1 by the regular organization's candidate, W. Brooks Bradley.

But Michael J. Birmingham, chairman of the county liquor board, said "We had been contemplating dismissing him for some time. Then he filed as a candidate for office and we did not want to hurt his political chances, so we postponed his dismissal."

O'Malley said Struben was considered a satisfactory employee until about four months ago. That would correspond with the time when he filed for office on the rival ticket.

Gov. McKeldin's office ordered the national and state flags lowered over state buildings, and Adj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord issued a similar order for National Guard installations in Maryland.

Woman Goes Free In Lye-Tossing Case

SALISBURY (AP) — A woman charged with throwing lye in her husband's face went free Wednesday when her spouse failed to show up to testify against her.

Circuit Judge Rex A. Taylor told the defendant, Mrs. Leatrice Ridley, 26-year-old Negro, that if he had his way in lye-tossing cases he'd give a maximum penalty as though they were murder charges.

The North Carolina born woman was charged with mayhem and assault on her husband, Junious Van Ridley, last September. He was reported to have been asleep at the time.

Ex-Employee Of U. Of Md. Charged In Fund Thefts

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — may begin a probe of that short. A former University of Maryland employee has been charged in connection with a fund shortage which university officials have said totals about $18,000.

The man arrested Tuesday night was charged in shortages of $1,549.

Det. Lt. Earl J. Huber of the Prince Georges County police said Elliott M. Elliott, 46-year-old former administrative assistant at the university from Takoma Park, was charged with three counts of forgery and two of grand larceny.

State's Attorney Blair H. Smith said Elliott was fired by the university in October 1956 after a shortage was suspected.

Smith said the money involved several funds handled by the university's agricultural office.

A preliminary hearing for Elliott was set for June 6 in Hyattsville. He was released under $10,000 bond.

The money reportedly was taken between March 1954 and September 1956.

Last Monday a second shortage was reported at the pharmacy in University Hospital in Baltimore. It was reported the Baltimore City State's attorney, J. Harold Grady

Elks Dance Saturday

A floor show, featuring novelty and acrobatic dancing and pantomime will be presented at the weekly dance of the Elks Club Saturday evening.

The social sessions committee is sponsoring the dance in the rainbow room. Music will be by Tommy Smith's Orchestra, beginning at 9:30.

Lutheran Activities Explained

The Luther League activities and emblem were explained in a program when the Luther Leaguers of St. Paul's Church honored this year's confirmation class at a supper Monday. The tables were arranged in the "L" shape and decorated with spring flowers. The Lutheran emblem was displayed and its five colors were used in place cards and programs. Snapshots of former leaguers were displayed with Camp Sequanota and UNICEF materials.

A skit, "This Is Your Luther League" was presented by Charlene Hyde, Bonnie George, Cynthia Siebler, Linda Cooper and Jane Sammel. More than 30 activities of St. Paul's leaguers during the past year were reviewed. Highlights of the national affiliation, Synodical league and Mountain District were given. Miss Bonnie Norris, assisted by Linda Bradour, read a poem explaining the emblem. The St. Paul's point system for achievement was explained by Miss Bonnie George.

Rev. John F. Sammel gave the grace. Pep songs were sung by the group. A welcome was extended by Fred Sammel, and Cynthia Siebler led devotions. Miss Vera Elaine MacKenzie led the group singing and sang a solo, "You'll Never Walk Alone," during the devotional period.

Leaguers were reminded to attend the Mountain District banquet at St. Paul's, Frostburg, June 5, and to see Judy Ritchey for tickets. Next Sunday the leaguers will have another Cumberland youth group as their guests.

They also plan to continue our door Sunday vesper services during the summer. Those planning to attend leadership training camp are asked to make reservations at once.

Russia, Satellites Hold Important Conferences

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

While the eyes of the world have been fastened on France, the Soviet bloc has been holding conferences of an importance beyond their usual propaganda purposes.

The first was a 12-nation meeting designed to revitalize Communist economic cooperation and put a new edge on the Khrushchev boast that they will win the cold war through economic superiority.

The second, a meeting of the Warsaw Pact countries, obviously considered military matters against the background of the need for economic cooperation and acted accordingly.

With the dual purposes of reducing military manpower in favor of production and of creating a better atmosphere, the Soviet Union announced it was withdrawing all her troops from Rumania and reducing the number in Hungary.

At the same time, some of the satellites themselves are being permitted to reduce their armies. This does not include Hungary and East Germany.

Part of these reduction claims may be propaganda, but not all, since juggling of troops to keep up the strength of the small satellite armies, as the Soviet Union sometimes does with her own in the face of similar announcements, would soon be detected by the people.

Reports from the economic meeting are less specific, but indicate a new drive in which the efforts of the Asiatic and European nations will be better coordinated, at least to a degree.

There are bound to be difficulties within the Soviet bloc in trying to set up an economic community just as there are among Europeans. But the mere sitting together of the Asian and European representatives is a tip on what they are trying for.

This was one of the things the Soviet Union wanted, and because of her domineering attitude failed to get, from her attempts at reconciliation with Yugoslavia.

For many years the emphasis in Communist development has been on ideology as the binding clay for their international front. This has led to conflicts, with Red China and Yugoslavia both taking some initiative in the field of Communist theory.

When it comes to fixing prices and allotting production in bloc trade, which they are obviously trying to do, agreement becomes even more complex.

Nevertheless, the two meetings serve as further notice to the West of the tactics the Soviet Union is emphasizing now.

Circumferential Street Included In Annapolis Plan

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A circumferential street which will swing around congested areas of Annapolis is in long-range plans for the city's future.

It is included in planning efforts by city authorities to meet demands of a steadily growing population.

Joseph M. Axelrod, city engineer, outlined the plans at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

He said the city is studying problems which will be created by a population of 40,000 expected by 1970. He said estimates indicated the city's current population of about 30,000 will increase to 32,000 by 1960.

The engineer said the city's study, designed to determine the best means of furnishing water, sewerage and utilities to the growing areas of Annapolis, is 95 percent complete.

When it is finished, the city may apply for federal aid in an urban renewal program.

Foundation Planned By Nathan Leopold

CHICAGO (AP) — Paroled slayer Nathan Leopold has set up a foundation to aid emotionally disturbed, retarded or delinquent youths, his attorney said Tuesday.

Main source of income for the foundation will be royalties from the sale of Leopold's book "Life Plus 99 years."

Elmer Geritz, Chicago attorney who led Leopold's long fight for parole, said the Leopold foundation was granted a charter by the Illinois secretary of state April 18. A month after Leopold was paroled from the Stateville Penitentiary.

Leopold, now 54, was sentenced in 1924 to life and 99 years for his part in the kidnapping and thrill slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks. He is now a $10-a-month technician at a Brethren Service hospital at Castaner, Puerto Rico.

Conscientious objectors, during the Civil War, could buy their way out of the U. S. Army for $300.

The bidding: North East South West
1 diamond Pass 2 no trump Pass
3 no trump Pass Pass

Opening lead: Three of hearts.

Time at the bridge table is measured not in swings of the pendulum, but rather in units of tricks. East, today's victim, was caught off guard for a split second; just time enough for one trick to get by—the trick that resulted in the stealing of a game.

South made a slightly unorthodox two no trump response, inasmuch as he did not have a true heart stopper. However, he felt that the more normal bid of two clubs would leave him with the same problem later if his partner rebid two diamonds. Furthermore, North was very likely to have a heart honor as part of his opening bid.

The three of hearts was led and dummy played low. The king won and the six was returned, driving out the ace. Declarer could see that he had but eight tricks, so that only if he could get a club trick thru the opposition before their eyes were opened, could he succeed in his contract.

He therefore promptly led the jack of clubs. East, in the belief that the declarer was starting some kind of a finesse and hoping that his partner could win the trick with the queen, played "second hand low." When this held, declarer ran off with his nine tricks and retired.

East had played too quickly and, as is natural under the circumstances, without thought, not first.

Well, Newton may have a point. It's the American custom to make a distiller be geographically honest with his labels. Thus Canadian whisky is supposed to have been born and bred there, and stuff tasting the same is supposed to bear some such label as "canadian-type" whisky.

Curacao liquor has been identified with any old orange peel for so long that its geographic heritage seems pretty well forgotten. Except by Dr. Newton, that is.

The chances are not many of us are on speaking terms with a Curacao orange, or even with Curacao, so let's get a little background.

Curacao is a part of the Netherlands Antilles, or, more specifically, it's one of the Leeward Islands in the Caribbean Sea. Its population of 118,858 mostly live from refining the oil that's imported from Venezuela to the south.

But the early Dutch settlers were interested in another distinction. Its soil produces a generally no-account green orange, called Citrus aurantium curassavicus. It not only is hard to pronounce; it also stubbornly refused to grow anywhere else. But it made a good liqueur.

Frenchmen seem to take the fateful drama about them with a special disdain. This they have cultivated — outwardly—for centuries. Only in moments of great stress do they spill their emotions and take to slashing one another in the streets. There is nothing of that in Paris before the dinner hour. Later? It could come.

Queues form in front of movie houses in a light spray of rain. Many stores are open to the evening trade. Luxury cars are on display in brightly lit showrooms all along the Champs Elysees from the fountain-decked Rond Point to the Arc de Triomphe.

Backed up in the thickets surrounding the great art exhibition hall called the Grand Palais, nearly 100 black or green buses are lined bumper to bumper. From the buses spew hundreds of national gendarmes in battle dress, pistols at their sides.

These are the reserves, nearly enough to the Assembly for action there, but ready to wheel off into any part of Paris.

On a bench a few yards away a thin blonde woman strains her eyes under a dim street lamp, writing a postcard. Her 8-year-old son plays a lonely game of hopscotch.

This is no place, of course, to argue whether there's any validity.

For a while this peel was used exclusively for Curacao liqueur. But some villain had the idea of using regular orange peels, with a little Curacao orange for flavor.

Then, before you could say, Citrus aurantium curassavicus, it was left out altogether, and Curacao liqueurs were being made almost everywhere.

This is no place, of course, to argue whether there's any validity.

It's wise to take advantage of every opportunity to gain in income. Little increases in earnings have a happy way of adding up to substantial sums even over a short period of time. Every dollar you can save should be earning the liberal return and safety that savings enjoy with us.

More Spankings By Dad Advised

BALTIMORE (AP) — Some of the finest family welfare work ever accomplished was done in the woodshed, a retired Salvation Army official said Tuesday.

"Not enough dads are on span-

said Col. P. L. DeVeboise of Atlanta, Ga., retired national secretary of the Salvation Army.

"Everything in the house these days is operated by switches except the kinds. Fathers, switch them when they need it. You have God's word to back you up."

Col. DeVeboise addressed the Baltimore Rotary Club.

Engineer Reveals Flying Saucer Hoax

BIGGLESWADE, England (AP) —

The 5,000 people of this little market town have been seeing flying saucers almost every night for months.

Tuesday, Frank Russell cleared up the mystery, Russell, an engineer, said he had hoaxed Biggleswade with a do-it-yourself space ship made of wire, silver paper, clockwork and a couple of flashlights. The clockwork gave the device a revolving effect.

A balloon took it up to 600 feet, then a child's rocket shot it off at great speed. It flew only a short distance and when it landed he secretly recovered it.

Television and Radio

by John Crosby

Why Can't TV Afford A Good Show?

A full page ad in "Variety" taken by the Foundation for the Preservation of Matinee Theatre is led by a perfectly wonderful letter from a viewer named Mrs. Frank Hansman, who asks with marvellous simplicity: "What is wrong with the whole TV setup that it cannot afford to put on a good show?"

I recall talking about rising costs to an NBC man in Hollywood some years ago when there wasn't any television. Radio, said the NBC man, is pricing itself out of the market. Now television is and radio is pricing itself right back into the market. Costs in television are simply what people decided on in prosperous times and now that the times have changed, it's high time the costs changed, too.

It's a shocking paradox that when television was poor and despised by Hollywood and

Broadway alike, it could do anything and attempted everything. It produced some fine writers, some magnificent performers and some splendid directors. Now that it sells reruns of reruns for millions of dollars, it cannot afford anything but "Jefferson Drum."

For awhile, I feared technological unemployment among the gifted young writers, directors and producers who made TV so exciting. I needn't have worried. The talented ones have found a warm welcome in other fields. Their flight to other media is getting frightening.

In this season, television people rang up a record on Broadway that has been almost awe-inspiring. "Two for the Seaside" was written by William Gibson, directed by Arthur Penn and produced by Fred Coe—and all of 'em came out of television. "Look Homeward, Angel," which won both the Pulitzer and Critics Circle prizes, was directed by another fugitive from TV, George Roy Hill; Alex Segal directed both "Who Was That Lady I Saw You With" and "Compulsion"; and Vincent Donahue directed the Antoinette Perry award winner, "Sunrise at Campobello."

And even more remarkable is the fact that everything that TV people had anything to do with was a hit. There were no flops that I know of. Naturally the boys are in demand everywhere except, that is, on television, where they came from. Next season on Broadway, three TV directors will be underfoot all over Times Square. As things look now, Dan Petrie will be directing Budd Schulberg's "The Disenchanted"; Bob Mulligan, whom many people consider TV's top dramatic director, will direct Judith Anderson in "Comes a Day" and he will also direct "Laurette"; Jack Smight will direct Celeste Holm in "Third Best Sport." William Gibson, author of "Two for the Seaside," is turning his moving TV script on the Helen Keller Story into a play and if that turns out right, Arthur Penn will direct it and Fred Coe will produce it.

Robert Herridge, the TV producer who did many of the "Seven Lively Arts" shows and some of this season's Kraft shows ("Fifty Grand," "All the Kings Men") is planning a production of "Sign of Jonah" for Broadway. David Susskind, the greatest champion of live TV, will produce N. Richard Nash's "Handful of Fire." Martin Manulis, who has guided the destinies of "Playhouse '90" since its inception, has fled to Twentieth Century Fox as a producer. Sidney Lumet and Delbert Mann, two of TV's best pioneer directors, are all but lost to the movies and, rumor has it, John Frankenheimer is joining them in those lush pastures.

"I don't think we've leaving television for good," said Jack Smight the other day. "The pendulum has just got to swing back to live. Tape recording (instead of kinescope) is the most exciting thing to come along in years, and when it does, they've just got to call in the live guys because we're the only ones with the experience to handle it. But this coming television year just isn't the season for the live guys."

I pointed out that the live guys had had quite a record of success on Broadway. "Well," he explained, "we have had twenty years of experience compressed into five in television—in terms of numbers of scripts, different kinds of drama, and varieties of things that can happen to a play

Damage Suit Settled Here For $5,000

Settlement of a $5,000 damage suit was noted in Circuit Court Tuesday with the filing of papers in the case.

The suit was brought by Ronald Jay Summerfield, through his mother, Mrs. Georgia Carol Summerfield, against John H. Hughes Purdy Jr.

The declaration, filed by Donald W. Mason, attorney for the plaintiff, states that Purdy was operating his car at a high rate of speed last October 11 when he struck the Summerfield boy about one mile north of Rawlings on U.S. Route 220.

The boy suffered a fractured leg, a concussion and lacerations and abrasions. The settlement in the case was for $1,500.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 28 (UPI)—A later report from the doctor if you think MGM's new boss Sol Siegel hasn't big plans, just listen to this—his first important announcement since he took over the helm. He has just made a three picture deal with Frank Sinatra whereby the actor-singer will star in three top productions during the next two years. Frank's own company, Hobart Productions, will be a partner in the multimillionaire deal.

"The Mark Hellinger Story" is finished and ready to go according to Charles Schnee, the producer.

"It has by no means been called off because of script trouble," he said. "We're pleased with the script. Our trouble is in finding the right actor to play Mark Hellinger. We were supposed to go in July but we will not start until we are sure we have an actor who will please all Mark's friends and admirers."

What Keeps a Husband Faithful?

Experts are finding that a man's fidelity in marriage is intimately related to his maturity capacity to love. Most marriage counselors agree that the reasons men give for being unfaithful are self-deceptive and usually conceal deeper and less pleasant urges. DES Prepared For Students Seeking Jobs

The Maryland Department of Employment Security has adopted a "Jobs for Youth" campaign, according to Francis A. Kenney, manager of the local DES office.

Employers throughout the state have been advised that hundreds of high school and college students have begun contacting DES offices seeking summer employment.

In anticipation of the demand for employment, Kenney said personnel of his office conducted interviews with interested members of this year's graduating classes in Allegany County high schools.

Nearly 900 of the approximately 1,100 seniors were given the DES general aptitude test, Kenney stated, while the department's shorthand and typewriting proficiency test was administered to 186 seniors who were completing commercial courses in the county's high schools.

The majority of the high school and college students seek temporary jobs in the hope of furthering their education, Kenney explained, although some are looking for their first permanent positions.

The local office placed a large number of high school and college students in temporary jobs last year, the DES office manager pointed out. For persons interested in utilizing the services offered: they can either report to the North Mechanic Street office or contact its personnel at PA 2-1930.

In explaining the "Jobs for Youth" program, Kenney said "while there currently is a surplus of workers over jobs, many employers, for a variety of reasons, intend to hire some of these youngsters this year. The employer who plans to do this would do well to list his available openings with the nearest Employment Security office."

"From the knowledge we have gained of these applicants as individuals, we can select those who seem most able to meet the requirements of the job, and then arrange for an interview with the employer. The final decision to hire or not to hire remains with the employer."

In the reign of Charles II, superstition arose that if the ravens inhabiting the grounds of the Tower of London were to disappear, the British empire would collapse. Since then, ravens, each with one wing clipped to prevent escape, have been taken care of.

Beauty Spot Would Honor Late Garden Club Head

Creation of an outdoor beauty spot in the form of a bird and wild life sanctuary as a memorial to the late Mrs. Gilbert Miller is proposed by a committee that had its inception with members of the Garden Club and Wild Life Federation.

Recently retired chief judge George Henderson has accepted the chairmanship of the fund raising committee and Charles A. Piper, president of the Liberty Trust Co., is treasurer.

Mrs. Miller's wide range of activities in spreading greater appreciation of the beauties of nature was cut short by her sudden death March 27. Hundreds who worked with her, fired by her compelling enthusiasm for creating a love of bird life, trees, flowers and community beautification, feel that such a memorial to her will be a source of pleasure and profit to future generations.

"There will be no drive for funds and no solicitation," said Mr. Piper. "It is felt that organizations and individuals who know of her great accomplishments in community betterment will voluntarily contribute to this worthy project."

Mrs. Miller was president of the Bird Club for years and was a board member of the Audubon Club of Maryland; she was a founder and first president of the Garden Club; she directed the Nature Camp for the Junior Bird Club, spending two weeks every summer living at the camp with a hundred or more children; was chairman of water safety for the Red Cross and directed spectacular water ballets in which scores

Bloodmobile Visits Set Next Week

Announcing that the Johnstown Bloodmobile will be at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, Monday from noon till 6 p. m. officials of the Red Cross, a County United Fund agency, again yesterday stressed the importance of meeting monthly blood quotas here.

Cumberland is one of the communities in the Johnstown Region, which, through failure to meet monthly quotas, has brought about a curtailment in blood service affecting the needs of local residents in out-of-region hospitals.

Garrett County and Piedmont Chapters of the Red Cross are still qualified under the new Johnstown policy for the replacement of blood when it is required out of the region.

"With more people traveling during the summer months," a Red Cross spokesman said today, "requests for blood come from all over the country. Sickness and accidents don't go on vacations. They travel right with you. But it will no longer be possible to take care of out-of-area requests for blood unless monthly quotas are met, or unless people deposit blood in the local blood bank as an insurance against their needs while traveling."

The bloodmobile will be at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch Tuesday from noon till 6 p. m. A large number of donors have already been scheduled there.

Wants Street Paved

James Sathoff, 220 Hay Street, asked the Mayor and Council Monday to have Hay Street blacktopped.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said residents of the street were contacted on blacktopping the street by ordinance but reported they did not have the money. He added that the city applied light surface treatment.

Damage Suit Ordered Removed

A damage suit scheduled for Tuesday in Circuit Court here has been removed to Baltimore City for trial.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris signed an order transferring the suit brought by Philip Carr, administrator of the estate of Mrs. Patricia Trenton, his daughter, against Raymond Wempe, city.

Wempe drove the car in which Mrs. Trenton was fatally injured about a year ago on U. S. Route 219 near the road's intersection with U. S. Route 40 at Keyser Ridge. The defendant and Mrs. Trenton's daughter, Cynthia, were injured in the crash.

Court attaches here said it is the first time they remember a case being sent from here to Baltimore City for trial. Usually, the cases are removed to Garrett, Washington and Frederick counties. Two of the attorneys in the case are from Baltimore City and this had something to do with the transfer there, it was reported.

Board Given Road Book

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received a letter from Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the State Roads Commission, outlining the highway program in Maryland.

Under separate cover he also sent a copy of "State Highway Study Including Sufficiency Ratings."

Bonnell said that copies of the Green Book (revised) covering all counties were recently made available to all members of the General Assembly. Bonnell said the Green Book will be much more convenient than the heavy complete report.

The county commissioners will be able to review and discuss the highway situation in the county by use of the Green Book.

Bonnell said that there are no additional funds to implement projects recommended and which were not in the original 12-year road program.

"At the moment we must follow the 12-year program unless substitution of Green Book programs can be made for mileage and money. It is the commission's policy to clear suggested substitutions with county authorities," Bonnell declared.

De Gaulle As Savior Or As Dictator?

In his recently published memoirs, Gen. Charles de Gaulle tells how, at the close of World War II, he rejected a proposal to proclaim the restoration of the Republic of France. The Republic never ceased to exist, the General replied; he and his associates of the Free French and the Resistance had "incorporated" it.

And in making his bid for power as the "head of the government of the French Republic," May 19, de Gaulle declared: "I fought the war to win victory for France. But I did it in such a way that it was also the victory of the Republic."

Between those two statements lies the enigma of de Gaulle. The mind that conceives the Third Republic to have been incorporated in the flesh and will of a small group of exiles has no difficulty in seeing the Republic living on while a lone, non-elected leader is "delegated with exceptional powers for an exceptional task at an exceptional time."

De Gaulle when in power made haste slowly. The Renault automobile works were confiscated by the state—as property of a collaborationist—and certain coal mines were brought under government operation. In his recent statement in Paris, he lists a series of less sweeping changes, including extending citizenship to the Moslems of Algeria.

Subsequently, de Gaulle has twice admitted planning a coup d'état. He now declares it incredible that "at the age of 67 I am going to begin a career as a dictator." What he would do he has not explained—he was equally vague in 1945. The French people have only his record and his word that the "sort of resurrection" he promises would not substitute one-man rule for the "regime of the parties" de Gaulle despises.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Stassen And Pretzels

The defeat of Harold Stassen in his effort to become Governor of Pennsylvania will not shake the Republican Party to its core. In fact, it produced not even a shudder on the perimeter. Harold Stassen had long ago outlived his usefulness as a political leader, not because he lacks ability but because the march of time has passed him by. Few men ever realize when their day to retire from political activity has come and they invite cruel defeat rather than sit by in the bleachers. And cruel defeat usually overtakes them.

Harold Stassen, at a very early age, showed enormous political promise, having become Governor of Minnesota at 31. He brought into the Republican Party a younger generation which was of great value, because after 1932, it looked for a while as though when a Republican died, there would be no one to replace him. Then Stassen became Wendell Willkie's Floor Manager at the 1940 Convention, which was a political error, because Willkie added nothing to Stassen's stature and brought upon him the enmity of both the Taft and Dewey forces who were then already emerging to political leadership.

Subsequently Harold Stassen wandered hither and thither, seeking office which would give him a sounding board and keep him before the public. With the aid of the Pews of Philadelphia, he became president of the University of Pennsylvania, but like Eisenhower at Columbia University, he found academic administration a different kind of chore than it was in those days when Nicholas Murray Butler could make speeches universally and a university bulldied itself into greatness as a result thereof. Today, running one of those schools is a man-sized administrative job and if not attended to, the university sinks into bricks and mortar which are, after all, little more than potential rubble.

Stassen's time to run for the Presidency was in 1956. That was also the year when Robert A. Taft and Thomas E. Dewey should have run against each other for the nomination, thus settling an intra-party feud by a vote on it. But the Republican businesssmen decided that they required a more glamorous figure and they made the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower possible. Harold Stassen, having nowhere to go, joined the Eisenhower Administration in various capacities.

The President, it is said, took a great liking to him. But Stassen's interest had taken a turn to international relations which, unfortunately for him, is the province of John Foster Dulles. The attempt to operate two State Departments led to all the complexities of a bigamous marriage and in the end, Stassen had to go, as his friends tried to tell him all along.

This would not have been a political disaster, had Harold Stassen not developed an unquenchable envy of Richard Nixon, the Vice President, who is constitutionally next in succession to a President who has cardiac difficulties, and who is likely to be nominated in 1960 as a reward for good conduct, despite the President's probable preference for General Gruenher. So far as intra-party cleavage is concerned, the two major factions in the Republican Party are now for Nixon.

So Stassen attempted to have Nixon dumped in 1956. Such a dumping effort is usually done in secret on a dark night in a smoke-filled room by experienced politicians who do not need to use words to express purposes. However, Stassen did it all in the open, like an honest but inexperienced man. He created the impression that he was a fall-guy for one of the most tricky politicians of recent years, Sherman Adams, who, not satisfied with vicariously governing a country, hopes for recognition for himself, a laudable ambition but generally unacceptable.

At any rate, instead of Nixon being dumped, Stassen was and he returned to Pennsylvania to run for Governor, hoping thereby to have a stepping-stone for 1960. He was, however, defeated by an eloquent and competent pretzel-maker, Arthur T. McGonigle, who took Stassen better than two to one and as a politician might say, that is that.

Had Stassen been nominated for Governor of Pennsylvania by the Republican Party, there can be no doubt but that he would have gone into the Republican Convention in 1960 to seek the Presidency. Now, he would be well-advised to, in Congressional parlance, yield. His day is done.

Something Pretty Permanent About That

May As Well Roll Up That Obsolete World Map

By Joseph Alsop

PARIS

Long lines of trucks full of police are discreetly parked in the alleys of chestnut trees heavy with blossom. But as these words are written, there is no other sign that anything at all is amiss in this lovely city.

Paris in the spring, the most beautiful of all world cities at its most beautiful moment, has never been more enchanting or more outwardly peaceful. Yet the whole governmental system of France is obviously on the verge of a radical transformation.

The Army, the Navy, the provinces are all demanding a new kind of leadership. Even the police quite recently set out to storm the National Assembly, shouting that the Deputies ought to be thrown into the Seine. The politicians desperately huddle together, but they have nowhere to turn. What will be the outcome?

At such a moment, the next event grows rapidly and unpredictably out of the last. The whole shape of things to come is formed by the elusive intermingling of accident and human intention. In these circumstances, one cannot offer anything more detailed than the obvious prediction of Gen. de Gaulle. And this present state of Paris, outwardly calm, inwardly seething, is a fair image of the present state of the whole Western world.

Another visible focus of disorder, in Lebanon, too plainly hints that what is happening in Paris is not a localized phenomenon. In Lebanon, the pro-Western regime of President Camille Chamoun is under heavy attack by the forces of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser. Britain and the United States now stand committed to send troops to Lebanon if the Lebanese govern-

Kuhn maintained in his petition to the Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus that the sentences were illegally increased and that he was placed in double jeopardy in violation of the constitution. He contended the sentences originally were intended to run concurrently.

Judge H. L. Ducker wrote the unanimous Supreme Court opinion which said:

"Whatever may have been the intention of the trial judge, with respect to the sentences of Oct. 20, 1956, or any recollection as to what was done, the fact remains there is no language in the orders of Oct. 19, 1956, indicating these sentences were to run concurrently."

The opinion maintained that a "court of record can speak only by their records."

Mineral Man Loses Appeal In High Court

CHARLESTON (AP) — A State Supreme Court opinion has rebuffed the contention of a State Penitentiary prisoner sentenced from Mineral County that he was illegally confined for a maximum of 30 years.

The appellate court unanimously rejected yesterday the claim of William E. Kuhn.

Kuhn pleaded guilty in 1956 to four indictments, which included two charges of forgery and two other charges of passing bad checks. He was sentenced to two to 10 years on each of the forgery charges and one to five years on each of the bad check indictments.

The sentences were suspended, however, and Kuhn was placed on probation.

He was taken into court last year for violation of probation. His probation in each case was revoked and the circuit court ordered the original sentences to be executed and specified that they should run consecutively.

Kuhn maintained in his petition to the Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus that the sentences were illegally increased and that he was placed in double jeopardy in violation of the constitution. He contended the sentences originally were intended to run concurrently.

Judge H. L. Ducker wrote the unanimous Supreme Court opinion which said:

Fort Ashby Firemen Open Fund Campaign

Hope To Purchase
$14,500 Pumper

FORT ASHBY — The Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Company will stage a drive for contributions for a new 1,000-gallon tank truck from June 2 through June 7.

The new tank truck has a Ford 800 body and chassis. Mounted on the chassis will be a 1,000-gallon water tank, hose bed with a capacity of 800 feet of hose, pumper controls which are identical to controls on the present truck and other pieces of equipment which are of the latest design on fire trucks. The truck and equipment will be supplied by the American LaFrance Company.

The cost of the new truck, plus hose and other equipment necessary to fully equip the truck, is approximately $14,500. Delivery should be made in about two months.

A fund drive committee composed of R. C. Adams, chairman, Floyd Bohrer, Floyd Wagoner and Donald Grayson has set the first week of June for the initial soliciting of donations toward the cost of the new truck. Beginning June 2, four teams of five men each will start canvassing the area in and around Fort Ashby. All proceeds will be used to purchase the truck.

In past years the lack of water that exists in the area throughout the summer and fall seasons has caused great concern to the fire company. In many instances the only water available to fight fires has been water carried by the truck, and the new 1,000-gallon truck will carry sufficient water to control most fires. By use of the hose contained on the new and presently owned truck, water supplies up to 2,700 feet can be reached. Previously, only water supplies about 1,800 feet from the site of a fire could be utilized.

The new truck will greatly enhance the efficiency of the Fort Ashby Fire Company and afford more protection of property and life of residents in the Fort Ashby area.

A's Rally To Defeat Yankees Second Straight Day, 4-3

Duke Maas

Relief Role

Hurler Also Doubles
First Run In, Gives
Losers Only 1 Hit

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics Wednesday became the first team to defeat the New York Yankees twice in a row as they edged the league leaders, 4-3, behind strong relief pitching of Duke Maas.

Maas took over in the fifth inning with the bases loaded, none out and the Yankees leading 2-0. He worked his way out of the jam while giving up one run on a wild pitch. Maas worked a total of five innings, gave up only one hit and faced only 16 batters.

In addition to his brilliant pitching, Maas supplied the big blow in the fifth when the Athletics scored two runs. Maas doubled Harry Chiti home in that frame and scored himself on a single by Bob Martyn.

The Athletics won the game in the sixth when they scored two more runs.

Tuesday night the A's defeated the Yankees, 7-3, and broke Bob Turley's 7-game winning streak.

All-Star Game Balloting To Begin June 22

Players, Managers To Select Squads

BALTIMORE, Md., May 28 — (UPI) — Commissioner Ford C. Frick announced today that balloting for the 1958 major league All-Star game among players, managers and coaches will begin June 22.

The announcement was made following a meeting with presidents Will Harridge of the American League and Warren Giles of the National League and officials of the Baltimore Orioles, who will play host to the game July 9.

The eight starting players for each league All-Star team will be announced June 29, Frick said. Per custom, the remaining players on the two squads will be chosen by the respective managers. Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves and Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees.

This will mark the first year that the major leaguers themselves will pick the starting All-Star teams. The voting method was changed after last year when Cincinnati fans "stuffed" the ballot box and elected a disproportionate number of Redlegs players.

Top Pros Vie In Western

DETROIT (AP) — The nation's touring golf professionals are back in the Detroit area again this week for the 55th Western Open tournament.

Defending champion Doug Ford is on hand for another crack at the title he captured in Detroit last year in a dramatic sudden-death playoff.

Few golfers have been able to repeat in the Western. Sam Snead, winner of his own tournament recently in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., was the last to do it. Snead's back-to-back triumphs came in 1949 and 1950. Previously Ralph Guldahl won in 1936-37-38.

Play starts Thursday over the Red Run Golf Club course in suburban Royal Oak. Par for the 6,765-yard layout is 36-36-72. First place in the $25,000 tournament is worth $5,000.

Among the favorites are Ken Venturi, the young stylist from San Francisco, Arnold Palmer, Masters' champion and Dow Finsterwald, generally high in the money.

Cardinals Beat Braves In 12th

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Pinch-batting Hobie Landrith drove over the deciding run in the 12th inning Wednesday night with a bases-loaded single that touched off a three-run rally as the St. Louis Cardinals pulled to a 7-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

Landrith collected his single to right of Humberto Robinson, the fourth of five Milwaukee hurlers. Robinson, now 0-1, loaded the bases with a walk, a single and a hit batter to set up the situation for Landrith. Two more Cardinal fans were recorded in the inning on a sacrifice fly and an error. Japan Reaps Gold Medals In Swimming

Sweep Seven Events In Asian Games

TOKYO (AP) — Japan, its relentless drive in track and field virtually halted, switched to swimming Wednesday for a renewed harvest of gold medals in the third Asian Games.

The Japanese swept all seven swimming races on a day including a world record performance of 4:17.2 by its 400-meter medley relay team and a smashing victory by Olympian Tsuyoshi Yamanaka in the 1,500-meter freestyle. Yamanaka, second to

Japan has a total of 30 gold medals and 479 points in the unofficial team standings for an imposing lead. Iran is next with 155

Meanwhile, an astounding athlete from Nationalist China, Yang Chuankuang, swept through the first five events of the decathlon to compile a total of 4,068 points.

A good showing in the final five events Thursday would threaten the listed world record held by America's Rafer Johnson, a Los Angeles collegian, 7,985 points, and the record-shattering, 8,013 points compiled 10 days ago by Russia's Vassili Kutzentsov.

A tall, husky man, Yang sprinted the 100 meters in 11.1 seconds, broad jumped 23 feet, 11½ inches, high jumped 6 feet, 7½ inches, ran the 400 meters in :50.1 and put the shot 41 feet, 7½ inches. He is weaker in field events.

Previously in individual events the Chinese superman had won a bronze medal in the 400 meters and silver medals in the broad jump and 110-meter hurdles.

Japan's bonanza in the first of the swimming competition came as India, Pakistan and Iran combined to hold the host country to a single victory in track and field, that in the pole vault.

Iran collected two gold medals in weightlifting. That made 23 for the other 19 nations competing, seven less than the Japanese have picked up by themselves.

Here are secrets of choosing earrings to flatter your face in both size and shape! Use them always.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Earrings Should Flatter

Are you an expert at choosing the size and shape of earring that best suits your size and shape of face? The size is right if it's in proportion to your face. The heavy, massive piece is sure to dwarf a tiny, fragile face. Conversely, finicky delicate designs get lost on either the bony or fleshy countenance. For this type, a middle-of-the-road choice will be most becoming. Exaggerated, showy earbobs seldom flatter any but the face that has exquisite and accurately proportioned planes.

As for the shape that does the most for your face, there is one very easy rule that will always guide you to the adornment of your lobes. A little good judgement is all that it takes to turn this pretty trick.

Behind The News In Business

by Leslie Gould

Even with the business slump, Uncle Sam is collecting nearly as much from the consuming public via excise or nuisance taxes as a year ago, when things were o.k.

The total for the latest quarter is off slightly, but for the fiscal year to date — that is since last July 1, Uncle has actually taken in more than in the same period of the preceding year.

For the quarter ended Mar. 31, excise taxes brought into the Treasury $2,616,949,000 against $2,661,066,000 for the March quarter a year ago. That's a lot of dollars.

For the first nine months of the current fiscal year, the collections from excise taxes totaled $8,211,808,000 compared with $7,996,459,000 for the same period in the preceding year.

The interesting and confusing fact is that excise tax take is larger for the period of recession than in the period of good business.

All of which raises the question:

Is business really as bad as some would have you believe?

The stock market for the last three months has been answering this affirmatively. It has recovered more than 40 per cent of the ground lost last Summer and Fall.

There are some who think this is only a recovery in a bear market, but no one can say that with any more assurance than they can say the boom is about to be resumed.

However, the fact remains that business is running on a very high plane, although down substantially in several individual lines, such as autos, steel and capital spending by industry.

The excise tax figures for the latest quarter are interesting, showing the generally high level of activity.

In that three months period of recession, the Treasury collected more than a year ago in excise taxes on such things as gasoline, trucks, auto parts, alcohol, phonograph records, musical instruments, sporting goods, fishing rods, business machines, cameras, toilet goods, admissions to roof gardens and cabarets, coin operated gaming machines, bowling alleys and pool tables, transportation of people and local and long distance telephone calls.

The Administration is studying ways and means of getting more money into the hands of the consumer. A good place to start is with the excise taxes, which, although paid by the manufacturer or distributor, come out of the buying public's pocket.

Glenn Beall Jr. New Chairman Of GOP Group

Morgan Treasurer,
Gurley Secretary

J. Glenn Beall Jr., Frostburg insurance man and realtor, last night was appointed chairman of the Allegany County Republican State Central Committee, replacing James S. Getty, who resigned.

The meeting was held at the office of Mr. Getty, state's attorney, in the Union Street County Building.

Following discussion of naming a new chairman, Edgar M. Lewis, and Thomas Elias, committee members for over 20 years, declined to accept the position.

The members then unanimously selected Mr. Beall, who will assume duties immediately, according to Mr. Getty.

J. Kenneth Morgan was named treasurer, replacing Ernest B. Treat, who was defeated in the primary election May 20. Secretary of the committee is Woodrow W. Gurley.

The new chairman is a former president of the Federation of Young Republicans of Maryland and is active in Republican political circles. Other members of the committee are Victor M. Hebb, Thomas W. Williams and Melvin S. Sloan.

In handing in his resignation, Mr. Getty pointed out "in my capacity of state's attorney and as a candidate, although unopposed by either party, I am of the opinion that the chairman should be someone who is not a candidate for political office."

He said he intends to campaign actively and strenuously for the GOP candidates in the November general election.

Parent Leaders Prepare Plans For Next Year

Some 11 leaders in the Allegany County parent-child study program, who yesterday completed a two-day workshop at the Board of Education Building, will spend the summer studying content material in preparation for the 1958-59 program which is expected to start in early September.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel in the county school system, said yesterday that another workshop is scheduled for August 26 and 27. That workshop will be concerned with the use of such resource materials as films, film strips and plays.

The workshop which ended yesterday considered the affectation area of human growth and development.

Interested parents will be registered for parent-child study groups soon after school resumes in September. The groups will be activated about the middle of September. Paid leadership will be provided for groups with at least 15 registrants which maintain an average attendance of at least 12.

This year there have been 23 groups with a total membership of 585 persons.

Plans for the coming school year call for meetings to be held weekly or bi-weekly, starting either in September or January. No groups will meet in December. Schedules will be arranged so all groups end before April 1.

Dr. Fred Thompson of the Child Study Institute of the University of Maryland served as workshop consultant. Mr. Higgins and the three visiting teachers, Miss Esther M. Carter, Frederick H. Sheeler and Eugene J. Hopkins, attended the sessions.

Leaders who attended included Mrs. Clara Mae Vogtman, Frostburg; Mrs. Janette McFarland, Frostburg; Mrs. Ruby Adams, Cresaptown; Mrs. Katherine Kyle, Flintstone; Mrs. Juanita Isminger, Roberts Place, and Mrs. Kathleen Kave, this city, all of whom served during the past year, and Mrs. Margaret Wolfe, Oldtown; Mrs. Jean Howard, Baltimore Pike, Mrs. Homer Berry and Mrs. Frank Simpson, both of this city, and Mrs. Louise Kiddy, Westerport, who are beginning leaders.

Former Area Man Drowns At Baltimore

Authorities indicated last night they do not anticipate any charges against Nelson L. Spidle, 803 Bedford Road, operator of a Cumberland Transit Lines bus which collided with an auto driven by William H. Wilson Jr., 21, of 166 Frederick Street, who died as a result of injuries.

Edwin R. Lilya, Allegany County criminal investigator, said that following an investigation into the fatal accident, the state's attorney's office found no indication of negligence on the part of the bus driver.

Social Security Office To Move First Of Week

New Address Is 6 Pershing Street

The staff of the Cumberland District office of the Social Security Administration is working its last full day in the Old space on the third floor of the Post Office Building.

On Monday, this office will move to its new and more spacious quarters at 6 Pershing Street, directly across the street from the Post Office in a new building just being completed. The office will be open for business at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

One of the first offices to be established after the passage of the Social Security Act, the Cumberland office opened its doors to the public on January 18, 1937. It was first located on the third floor of the Post Office Building and occupied two rooms with two employees. Later, a third adjoining room was also occupied.

In years following, the staff increased to the point where this space was no longer adequate, so a move was made to larger space on the third floor of the Post Office in what was known as the grand jury room.

Due to increased and expanded coverage and the necessity for further increasing the staff, the space occupied again became inadequate. The present space has been planned and built especially for the Social Security office by the Waingold Realty Co., according to specifications of the General Services Administration.

This new space is approximately 1,940 square feet and consists of a general work area, reception area, manager's office, stock room, conference room, and lavatory facilities. This office will be more convenient for callers since it is on the ground floor and is air-conditioned.

The Cumberland office has grown along with the program and now has 9 regular employees. They are: James A. Gwin, district manager; Wilmer E. Dunn, field representative; Ray Shaffer, field representative; Edna D. Loper, claims representative; Phyllis P. White, claims representative; Guinevere E. Ansel, receptionist; James J. Mowbray, claims stenographer; Shirley E. Ellsworth, claims stenographer and Henry L. Vogtman, clerk-typist.

Managers who have served the Cumberland office since its inception include: Macon G. Williams, Paul L. Jefferson, Charles E. Reynolds, Henry M. Millhouse, William W. Wood, John E. Robertson, James S. Getty, James E. Robertson, S. Leigh Wolfe and James A. Gwin.

The Cumberland office serves the counties of Allegany and Garrett in Maryland, and Mineral, Grant, Hampshire, and Hardy in West Virginia. Regular contact stations are maintained at points throughout the area for the convenience of claimants and others in transacting their Social Security business and filing their claims.

A decision will have to be made on the dining hall by Thursday or the $350,000 allotted for this purpose will revert to the general fund.

As a result, James J. O'Donnell, director of the Board of Public Improvements, planned to take the matter up with the Board of Public Works, which must pass on state construction projects.

The Board of Public Improvements favors revamping the dining hall to trim the $380,000 loan bid offered by the George Construction Co. of Cumberland.

It would do without the hall for the present because it would not be functional or in harmony with adjacent architecture if changed.

Earlier the Department of Public Improvements suggested ways of cutting down on costs to meet available state funds. Bids which were opened a week ago exceed money available both for the dining hall and a laboratory school.
